ABOUT SAMANTHA

Samantha Gregory works with women and girls who want to reach a higher level of success in their personal, professional/academic, and spiritual lives. She teaches them how to get rid of their victim mentality and move forward successfully

It is her pleasure to come and speak to your group on topics relating to relationships, parenting, personal finance, financial literacy, self development, social change, and social media.

Whether it is a keynote, workshop, traditional seminar, webinar, teleseminar, or radio, she is available to share her experiences and expertise with your audience. They will come away smarter, wiser, and excited about making definite changes in their lives.

She speaks for churches, women's groups, associations, girl empowerment groups, colleges, and your organization.

She firmly believes we don't have to barely survive, but we have the ability to thrive!
